

Inclusive Climate Adaptation and Resilience Building Workshop

at the 2016 Carolinas Climate Resilience Conference

The impacts of climate variability and change affect everyone, but they disproportionately affect socially vulnerable populations. The Inclusive Climate Adaptation and Resilience Building Pre-Conference Workshop will support participants in working with vulnerable and marginalized communities on climate related impacts.

Learning Outcomes:

- Enhanced understanding of climate-related impacts faced by vulnerable populations in the Carolinas and the expertise communities can offer to climate adaptation
- Identified action steps that incorporate considerations for relevant impacts to vulnerable populations
- Development of a common language among community members, extension professionals, and scientists that can further foster collaborative engagement

Expert Instructors:

Jacqui Patterson - NAACP Environmental and Climate Justice Program

Ronny Bell - Maya Angelou Center for Health Equity at Wake Forest

Reverend Leo Woodberry - Woodberry & Associates and pastor of Kingdom Living Temple in Florence, SC

When and Where?

Monday, September 12th 2016
9:00 – 11:30 AM

Charlotte Hilton University Place
Charlotte, NC

Register

The cost is $25 per person and limited to the first 25 registrants.

Sign up when you register for the full conference at www.cisa.sc.edu/ccrc/

2016 Carolinas Climate Resilience Conference

